All for One x VINCI Energies – Acquisition successfully completed

Dear Customers,

Today, the acquisition of All for One Group by VINCI Energies, announced in July, was successfully completed. You can find the corresponding Corporate News here: Link

With VINCI Energies, we now have a strategic, international partner at our side, supporting the long-term development and strategy of our company.

For you as a customer, continuity in your working relationship with All for One is assured: your points of contact, ongoing projects and existing agreements will remain unchanged. In summary: Nothing will change for you in terms of day-to-day operations.

At the same time, we are now beginning to gradually unlock the potential of coming together with Axians, the VINCI Energies brand for information and communication technology. For you, this means above all: more execution power, an even stronger one-stop portfolio and a broader multinational presence.

Together with Axians, All for One Group is expanding its service portfolio to offer an even more comprehensive range of solutions for your digital transformation. In addition to further SAP solutions, you will benefit from additional expertise in areas such as enterprise networks, cybersecurity, cloud, data centers and AI. This is complemented by Axians' market-leading software solutions, including those for logistics, field service, mobile asset and yard management.

Thanks to Axians' multi-local presence in 36 countries, we can also support you even more effectively with cross-border roll-outs, drawing on local expertise and project support.

We look forward to supporting you in your transformation projects together with Axians in the future – and to continuing our successful collaboration with you.

Best regards,

Michael Zitz
